Parcels Posts Compared.

There will be a reduction January 1st in the postage charged on parcels mailed in the United States. The rates will still be much higher than those long established in England, Germany and other countries of Europe, where the sending of parcels by mail, at low cost to the people, has been an extensive part of the public service for many years. It has worked no hardship abroad to any class and is recognized there as a general advantage. The reduction at hand in this country is less than is supposed by many who are apprehensive of results. A full examination of details should be made before forming an opinion of the fairness of the new regulations and the probable results. The new law was passed by Congress last summer with certain provisions showing that it is, at least in part, regarded as an experiment. Power is conferred on the postmaster general to investigate it, with the consent of the Interstate Commerce Commission, to modify weights and zone distances when experience has demonstrated that a change is needed.

Within a 300-mile zone the new rates will be 7 cents postage for the first pound, 5 cents a pound for each additional pound, and 57 cents for an 11-pound package, the maximum weight allowed. The rate will be less for smaller zones and more for larger. For more than 1800 miles the charge will be 12 cents for the first pound, 12 cents for each additional pound, and $1.32 for 11 pounds. The present charge for 11 pounds anywhere in the United States is $1.76, and the weight in any parcel is restricted to 4 pounds. The new rules will make a package of 11 pounds available.

Parcels postage in this country is not to be reduced to the foreign standard by any means. A 22-pound parcel in Germany is carried 10 miles for 17 cents, 20 miles for 22 cents, 50 miles for 37 cents, 100 miles 47 cents, 150 miles 59 cents, and any greater distance 72 cents. Rates in Austria are the same. In Mexico the postage on an 11-pound parcel is 60 cents. The reduction in this country is not at all radical.

The World's Christmas Gift.

Ninety years ago the world received a great Christmas present. That Christmas present came in the birth of Clara Barton, founder of the American Red Cross. Miss Barton is now ill at her home at Glen Echo, Md., and thousands and thousands of this and other countries are praying that her life may be spared for more years of joy over the magnificent blessings she has given the world during her long, wonderful life.

Clara Barton has been one of the world's greatest women. There have been no men in the world's history who have been greater men than she has been a great woman. In its fullness, the great length of her life has been lost. For all humanity she has wrought mightily, and yet the seeds she has planted have not produced their full measure of fruit, for every year the American Red Cross has grown and grown in its physical organization and in its wonderful work it has been able to accomplish for humanity and it will continue to grow as, perhaps, the most important factor toward the final realization of universal, world peace.

The Red Cross has protected the maimed and the helpless and the non-combatant, but it is yet to lift the combatants out of the atrocities of war and teach them to seek arbitral justice and find in international courts that which will make war a tradition of an outgrown barbarism.

If Clara Barton had never done the latest table places the vote for Wilson in the entire country at 6,156,748, that for the Republicans and third party combined at 7,304,562, and the total vote of all parties at 14,295,737. Protection was approved in the platforms of the Republicans and third party. It has a majority of 1,147,814 over the Wilson vote and a majority of 156,694 in the total vote.

other than start the Red Cross Christmas seal movement in the fight on tuberculosis, she would have been one of the world's great women. The memory of the "Peace Angel's" name and greatness will ever live.

Democratic patronage pie will be abundant, but the crust shorter than ever, according to the figures of the popular vote.

The latest Democratic recipe for reducing the cost of living: "Give us back those 50,000 fourth-class post offices."

"Our line of cut glass can not be excelled any place. It is cut along lines that will make you stagger with envy. Some of it is cut on the bodice. That I like best. It has the shape of a Venus and the twinkle of a star."

"There are many kinds of cut glass. I have been reading up on the subject since I got to be a clerk. I find the authorities say glass that which is cut with a sharp knife gives

Here's Where the Fun Comes In

Looked Like His Father.

The Rev. C. M. Yocum, pastor of the Main Street Christian church, once had a pastorate in Osborne, Ohio. During his work there Cyrus Jr., was born.

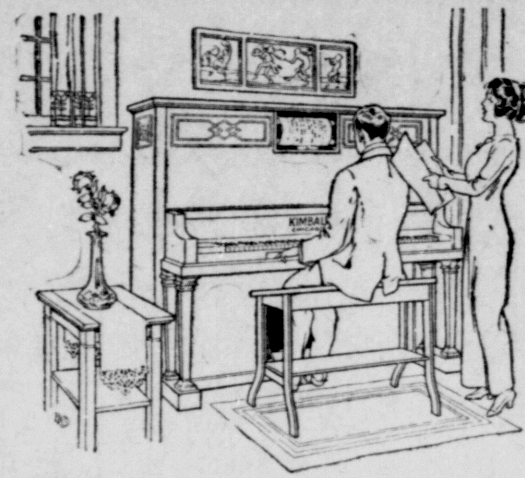

The youngster was only a few weeks old when one day the minister was pushing the empty cab down the street, having left the baby at the home of a friend with its mother.

By chance a woman who was a very good friend of Mr. and Mrs. Yocum passed on the opposite side of the street. She hailed the minister with the exclamation: "Oh, I have never seen that new baby. Wait a minute." And she came rushing across the street.

Thinking it would be a capital joke, he allowed her to come on across the street to see the fine baby. She pushed the top back, aglow with expectancy. When she realized the trick that had been played on her, the expression on her face never changed, and her quick wits stood her in good stead. Without a smile she observed: "How much it looks like its father, a perfect blank."

"There could be no better medicine than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My children were all sick with whooping cough. One of them was in bed, had a high fever and was coughing up blood. Our doctor gave them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the first dose eased them, and three bottles cured them," says Mrs. R. A. Donaldson, of Lexington, Miss. For sale by all dealers.

King George. The cables told at the time of the occupation of that Aegean seaport that immediately there arose friction between the two armies of the allies, and eventually the Bulgars left. Then the Greeks began their siege of Janina and were confident of ultimate success. But when they sent their representatives down to the armistice conferences at Baghchesh they were amazed and at the same time indignant to discover that Serbia, Montenegro and Bulgaria were considering very favorably that clause in the armistice which provided that for the fourteen days of peace all the besieged cities were to be revictualled daily. The Greeks felt that this was altogether too lenient.

They told their representatives to hold out for the surrender of Janina, at any rate. Otherwise the Turks would import ammunition, arms, coal and food freely by sea when the blockade on the Adriatic was raised, as was proposed, and in the event of the renewal of war all the work would have to be done over again and Janina might hold out indefinitely. Janina, which is the most important town of Epirus, has always been sorely desired by Greece.

Greece also felt that if the Bulgars were content to let the Turks keep Adrianople they would demand from Greece land that they had captured from the Turks as compensation.

At Chios and Mitylene, too, where there was fighting on Sunday and Monday, the Greeks felt that they would lose all they had gained if the armies remained in their positions for the fourteen days of the truce, and they demanded the surrender of the Turkish arms on these two islands.

It is said the actual peace negotiations will be held in London.

THE NOWILL CASE

Coroner's Jury at New Quay Returns an Open Verdict.

New Quay, Wales, Dec. 4.—At the conclusion of the inquest into the death of Mrs. Sidney Nowill, the young and handsome wife of a Sheffield manufacturer, who disappeared from the Atlantic hotel here on Nov. 2, and whose body was found Monday in a cove at the bottom of a precipitous cliff, the jury returned an open verdict of death by drowning. There was no evidence adduced as to how Mrs. Nowill got into the water. Mr. Nowill testified that he had confidence in his wife's fidelity. James A. Delay, the man who committed suicide just before the body of Mrs. Nowill was found, is known to have been an admirer of the young woman, but the coroner discovered nothing to connect him with the death of Mrs. Nowill.

JACK JOHNSON

Champion Pugilist Has Just Married Another White Girl.

JACK JOHNSON AND WHITE GIRL MARRY

Lucille Cameron Not Cured of Her Infatuation.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—By marrying Lucille Cameron, an attractive white girl, whose home is in Minneapolis, and for the love of whom a large part of the negro's troubles with the federal and city authorities is responsible, Jack Johnson, negro pugilist, brought to a climax the series of exciting events that have crowded his life in the last few months. It was the discovery that the pugilist had transferred his affections to this nineteen-year-old girl that caused his first wife, Etta Duryea, also a white woman, to take her own life several weeks ago.

The ceremony took place at the home of the pugilist which he gave his mother on Wabash avenue, in the presence of two score friends, white and black, of the fighter. It was performed by a negro preacher. The couple left the house immediately after the ceremony, and it was given out that they were going to New York and Boston on a honeymoon trip.

Marks End of Bitter Fight. This marks the end of the bitter fight made by the mother of the girl, Mrs. Ethel Cameron Falconet, and several women's clubs in Chicago, who in their efforts to save the girl, interested the federal authorities, who caused to be returned a number of indictments charging Johnson with violation of the Mann act against traffic in girls by transporting them from one state to another.

As the result of these exposures the city authorities have closed Johnson's cafe and put him out of business.

The marriage of the negro and the Cameron girl will not affect his prosecution on charges under the Mann act in the sense that a wife is barred from giving testimony against her husband. The indictments under which Johnson is to be tried concern his relations with a different woman, Belle Schreiber.

Early Hearing of Johnson's Case. Washington, Dec. 4.—The supreme court has advanced for hearing on Jan. 6 the case against Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, charging a violation of the white slave act.

Little Girl Burned to Death. Peru, Ind., Dec. 4.—Carrie Rish, aged seven, is dead as the result of burns received when her dress caught fire. She was playing with several children when one of them tossed a burning stick at her.

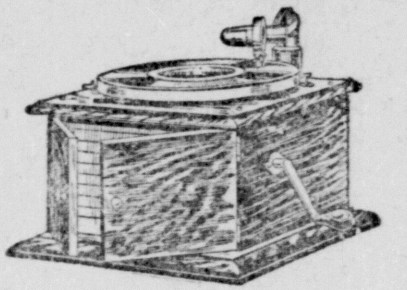

Camorrist Sentences Confirmed. Rome, Dec. 4.—The court of cassation has confirmed the sentences imposed at Viterbo in the famous Camorra trial.

The Ladies of St. Paul M. E. church will hold a rummage sale and Exchange in the Toolen room in First street all day Saturday and Sunday night. 22813.

stone where the stake was. Hopkins said no.

The defendant declared there was a post which designated where the line was and that it had been set by Somers. The witness declared Somers wanted to survey from the farther side of his farm, a distance of eighty rods, to determine the line, but Hopkins asserted he objected and asked that the survey be made from the other side of his field a distance of twelve and three-quarters rods because that was what his deed called for.

On Monday before the shooting, Somers told Hopkins, the latter testified, that a surveyor from Rushville would be there Tuesday or Wednesday to make the survey. Tuesday morning Hopkins and his son Harvey went to Somers' barn and told Somers, the witness said, that he did not want their line disturbed. Hopkins said Somers declared the hogs had rooted the corner post out, but the defendant swore it was embedded in the roots.

The defendant and his son started home, but the former was called by Somers, according to Hopkins' testimony, Somers explaining that he wanted to prove his assertions about his land by his deed. The witness testified Somers insisted on Hopkins remaining, declaring all the time his wife would get the deed.

Hopkins said he saw Lee's brother, Arthur Somers, pass the window outside, then Lee went out to meet him and they came in together and went directly and got the deed. Later, the witness said, Lee's wife came in and demurred about the papers being disturbed. Hopkins declared what Somers was looking for was not in the deed, he testified, and then Somers tip-toed to his side, raised his hand threateningly and said: "Damn you, if you want trouble, you can find it." Hopkins said Arthur Somers slipped up behind him. Seeing he was in close quarters, the witness declared, he made a dash for the door and ran into the highway, then inviting the Somers brothers out.

In describing the incident surrounding the shooting, Hopkins said he first saw Somers on a plow when he was about 65 steps away. Somers looked and saw Hopkins, the witness declared, got off his plow, drew his knife and opened it. Hopkins said he was leading a cow with his left hand and that he picked up a rock with his right after Somers opened his knife. Somers ran to a tree and cut a stick, the defendant declared, and then started north toward Hopkins.

Hopkins testified he said: "Lee, didn't you lie a little about that surveyor coming?" He said Somers denied it. Hopkins then said, according to his story: "Lee, if you would tell the truth, people would think more of you." Somers made a retort to that and Hopkins continued, he testified, as follows: "My wife has said that I shouldn't have anything to do with you." He repeated his remembrance of Somers' reply, and then testified he said: "Lee, you are the biggest liar in the county."

Somers started toward Hopkins with the open knife, the defendant testified, and he threw a rock at him. Somers dodged it, Hopkins said, and he picked up another one, but before he could throw it, Somers was so close he struck him in the back and then fled, letting his cow go at the same time.

When Somers said: "Damn you, I'll kill you," Hopkins testified he drew his gun and shot, not intending to kill him. He said if Somers had not turned his back suddenly, the bullet would never have hit him. When Arthur Somers came toward him from the other side of the field, Hopkins declared, he warned him with the assertion: "Stop or I'll hurt you. I just shot Lee as he was comin' toward me with an open knife"

Hopkins continued that he caught his cow, pulled the halter off and turned it loose, went across the fields to his home, and about eleven o'clock that night started to Rushville with his son Harvey to give himself over to the sheriff. Hopkins left his son at the first road that leads on to the pike north of Rushville, he testified, and walked to the edge of Rushville, when the thought came to him that he had no one to go on his bond and that perhaps he should not give himself up yet.

He testified he went east until he reached a railroad and then followed it for twelve miles to a station. From there he went four miles to an inter-urban line and boarded a car to Connersville. From there he went to Cincinnati by rail, thence to Covington, Ky., and on down thirty-five miles into Campbell county, Kentucky to the home of his uncle.

Hopkins said he remained there eleven days, returned home, went to the jail, told the sheriff who he was, and then gave bond and was released. Harvey and Albert Hopkins, sons of the defendant, David Matthewson and Dr. Earl McCall testified for the defense this morning.

It was developed on cross-examination by the State's attorneys that Hopkins has carried a gun almost continuously for forty years, according to his own admissions. He said he used it to shoot at rats. The State touched on other points of the story as told by him in direct examination, but in the main he was not much confused.

The State's attorney gained from the defendant an admission that he had once shot a man at Carthage. The State let it drop at that.

The attorneys for Hopkins attempted to pry into the circumstances surrounding the shooting at Carthage and developed the fact that it was a negro who had an altercation with Hopkins. John A. Titworth of the defense tried to bring the details of the quarrel out as evidence.

Will M. Sparks of the State objected on the ground that the defense had no right to question him as to the details of a shooting which happened, according to Hopkins, fifteen years ago. Judge Blair sustained the motion of the State and cited legal authorities which he said would uphold him in the ruling that the admission of the defendant either one way or the other would be binding to both parties and could not be entered into further.

The attorneys for the defendant were making their objections to the ruling of the court a matter of record when the State's attorneys withdrew their objections and the details of the incident were brought out.

Hopkins testified he and a negro were working together in a mill in Carthage, and the negro one day drew back with a heavy piece of gas pipe to strike him. Hopkins declared that in order to save his life he shot at the negro and the bullet penetrated the negro's shoulder, causing him to drop the pipe.

"You did not mean to shoot him either, I suppose," observed M. E. Forkner of the State rather sarcastically.

Hopkins replied that he did but that he did not shoot to kill the negro. He said he merely wanted to frighten him and make him drop the piece of pipe.

"You shot him more than once?" asked Mr. Forkner.

"When I got started," replied the defendant, "I guess I finally shot at him four times."

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

[From a series of elaborate chemical tests.]

Comparative digestibility of food made with different baking powders.

An equal quantity of bread (biscuit) was made with each of two kinds of baking powder—cream of tartar and alum—and submitted separately to the action of the digestive fluid, each for the same length of time.

The percentage of the food digested is shown as follows:

Bread made with Royal Cream of Tartar Powder:

99 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with alum powder:

67 Per Cent. Digested

Royal Baking Powder raised food is shown to be of greatly superior digestibility and healthfulness.

PREPARED FOR XMAS SHOPPERS

Rushville Merchants Have Stocks Arranged and Displayed for Annual Holiday Rush.

WHICH OUGHT TO BE AVOIDED

Mutual Gain and Satisfaction is Result of Supplying Christmas Needs Now.

Christmas is only three weeks distant and local merchants are congratulating themselves over the fact that many holiday purchases are being made every day and prospects are for more early buying this year than usual. With Thanksgiving just passed, many windows already bear a holiday touch. Every store has some hidden away allotment of floor space, however, which bears its Christmas "window trim" all ready for the word which will present it to the gaze of the business street pedestrian.

Shoppers for today in most of the local stores are also being urged to shop for tomorrow, for mutual benefit.

"Really the dreaded Christmas rush would be a thing of the past," said a dealer yesterday, "if holiday shoppers would only stop and remember that right now they can get a far bigger selection, have more time to make their choice and have better and more personal attention from the clerks than when a dozen people are wanting to see the same thing and three customers are trying to get one clerk's attention. While we make every provision physically possible to care for the Christmas buyer there is a turmoil and hurry that is unavoidable with so many persons all bent toward the same goal—doing their shopping nicely and all at once."

"Early Christmas shopping means less congestion for the merchant's sales, wrapping and delivering force means less hard work and nervous stress for the clerks, and gives the prospective purchaser every advantage in choosing with deliberation from stocks when at their fullest."

Postmaster Frazee is expecting the usual letters to Santa Claus for which the time is just about at hand. The pink-cheeked old children's friend will get them all too, the postmaster says.

The Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias will have a called meeting Thursday night and a large attendance is desired.

The teachers and officers of the St. Paul M. E. Sunday school will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the church parlors. Business of importance is to be transacted and a large attendance is desired.

The funeral services of Boone Gilson will be held Friday morning at 10 o'clock at the late residence, two miles north of the city. Burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

The funeral services of Thomas Jefferson Carr will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Alvan Moor in North Main street by the Rev. W. H. Wylie, assisted by the Rev. V. W. Tevis. Burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

The funeral services of Thomas Jefferson Carr will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Alvan Moor in North Main street by the Rev. W. H. Wylie, assisted by the Rev. V. W. Tevis. Burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Palace theater will show tonight "The Guardian Angel," a Milano Drama. The other offering for tonight will be "The Parson and the Medicine Man," in which Miss Margaret Fisher is featured in the stellar role. The latter is a comedy with a wholesome, farcical plot.

The Princess offers an unusually good program tonight with a Vitagraph and Biograph drama featuring the bill. "The Irony of Fate" is the title of the Vitagraph. Florence Turner is shown in this picture. The other is a Western picture, "Friends" featuring Mary Pickford. Tomorrow night a Lubin "The Doctor's Debt" will be shown.

—Mrs. A. N. Marlatt of Connersville spent the day here with her daughter, Mrs. J. H. Scholl.

MAKE APPEAL FOR POOR OF RUSHVILLE

Officers of Local Salvation Army Ask Help to Bring Christmas Cheer to Unfortunates.

FACE WINTER RELIEF WORK

Envoy and Mrs. Sparks, officers in charge of the local Salvation Army Corps, made the following statement to the public today:

"We are again facing our winter relief work among the worthy poor, and planning for our greatest effort in this direction, our annual Christmas dinners to poor families have brought timely relief and holiday cheer to the homes of the unfortunate where only sorrow and poverty reign. Our relief work among the many poor families, who look to us for aid, is carried on in an efficient and systematic way during the entire year and our object to relieve and bless irrespective of creed or nationality is well known, as also our method which promises quick assistance, with the least possible fear of pauperism. The children will not be forgotten, and in connection with the Christmas dinners they will be given a treat of nuts, candies, fruits, etc. It will be impossible for us to carry out our plans without the assistance of the public; and your contribution, whether large or small, will be gratefully accepted with our sincere gratitude and the humble thanks of the recipient of your generosity, and used for the purpose of helping the needy."

WANT ADS BRING RESULTS

Copyright, 1911, by Thomas Dixon

He turned and saw Nan standing in the doorway with a curious smile on her flushed face.

"May I, too, offer my congratulations, Miss Woodman?" she asked.

Harriet's little figure suddenly stiffened at the sight of Nan, but at the sound of her friendly voice relaxed and moved to meet the extended hand.

"Thank you, Mrs. Bivens," she replied cordially.

And then Stuart did something that sent a shock through every fiber of Nan's being.

As easily and naturally as a big brother he slipped one of his long arms around Harriet and looked down with frank admiration into her eyes.

"You see, Nan, she's mine. I raised her from a wee little mite. And this was such a cruel and dangerous experiment—she had no chance. It was impossible, but, God bless her, she did it!"

Nan made up her mind instantly to act on a plan that had been vaguely forming and tempting her for the past months. It was her trump card. She had hesitated to play it, but she would do it now without delay.

CHAPTER XXII.

Through Purple Curtains.

WHEN Nan made up her mind she acted with lightning rapidity. She would force Stuart to an avowal of love that would fix their relation beyond disturbance by the little singer. She had too fine a sense of values to permit herself to become entangled in an intrigue.

She could wait and gain in power for the waiting. Her physician had told her that Bivens' days were numbered.

But on one thing she was determined. She must know that Jim loved her still, loved her passionately, madly as she believed he did. But he must say it. She had no difficulty in persuading Bivens to urge Stuart to visit their country estate in the mountains of North Carolina. The doctor had ordered him there to live in the open air.

The young lawyer refused to go at first, but Bivens urged with such pathetic earnestness he was compelled to accept.

It was a warm, beautiful morning the last week in March when he alighted on the platform of the little railroad station on the estate and took his seat beside Nan in her big touring car. The fruit trees were in full bloom, and their perfume filled the air. The hum of bees and the song of birds he had known in his boyhood thrilled his heart.

"It's glorious, Nan," he exclaimed. "Your coming makes it perfect, Jim."

She answered tenderly.

As the river made a graceful curve Bivens' house swept into full view—a

Get at the root of the trouble.

Rubbing an aching back may relieve it.

But won't cure it if the kidneys are weak.

You must reach the root of it—the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills go right at it; Reach the cause; attack the pain.

Are recommended by many Rushville people.

Harrison Levi, 931 North Sexton street, Rushville, Ind., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are the only remedy that ever did me any good. I am glad to confirm what I said in their praise in 1907. I had to get up several times at night to pass the kidney secretions which were some times attended with pain. I had severe backaches, too. I finally got Doan's Kidney Pills at Johnson & Co's Drug Store and it did not take them long to make me well. The pains all left and the action of my kidneys became regular. I am now free from kidney weakness."

DO YOU OWN A HYOMEI INHALER FOR CATARRH?

Then you ought to know that druggists everywhere will furnish you with a bottle of Booth's HYOMEI for only 50c.

Pour a few drops of HYOMEI into the inhaler and start this very day to breathe the soothing, healing vapor and destroy the Catarrh germs.

With every package of HYOMEI comes a little booklet which explains how easy it is to end the misery of Catarrh, Croup, Sore Throat, Bronchitis and Deafness caused by Catarrh.

But best of all F. B. Johnson and Company are authorized to refund your money if HYOMEI doesn't do just what it is advertised to do. If you haven't the HYOMEI inhaler ask for the complete outfit, $1.00. (Advertisement.)

heels. The old man told him their destination.

The party consisted of half a dozen boys and girls whom Nan was chaperoning. Stuart, the footman and coachman. The start was made at sunrise. The morning was glorious, the air rich with the full breath of a southern spring.

At the foot of the first hill the coach suddenly stopped beside the banks of the Swannanoa river.

Nan leaped to the ground, drew Stuart with her to the rear of the coach, and raised her arms.

"Lift me up," she cried, laughing.

He placed his hands under her arms and with a leap and a cry of laughter she was in the empty baggage rack.

"Now up with you!" she cried.

In a moment Stuart was seated snugly by her side and the big red coach was rolling along the old road.

"Now, sir," Nan whispered, "do you know where you are going?"

Stuart nodded.

"To a certain peak among the clouds where you and I once went a thousand years ago."

Nan nestled a little closer, or perhaps it was the swaying of the coach that made him think she did, and softly said:

"You remember this road?"

"I've seen it a hundred times in my dreams since that wonderful day. It winds along the banks of the Swannanoa for twenty miles, always climbing higher and higher until the river becomes a limpid trout stream. We stop at the old roadhouse, stay all night and next morning take the bridge path with the funny pack horses and climb to the first mountain top, still following the little stream."

"Fine, Jimmy, fine," she cried, with girlish mockery. "Your geography lesson was perfect! You can walk home with me after school."

Stuart looked at her and broke into a laugh. Again they were boy and girl, and the only change he could see was that she was more splendidly beautiful at thirty-one than she had ever promised to be at fifteen.

"You remember how shocked you were in this same seat, Jim, that day in the sweet long ago when the old coach threw me into your arms?"

"Yes, I felt that I was taking a mean advantage of you."

"I thought you were an awful fool not to accept more gracefully and thankfully the providence which threw a pretty girl your way."

The coach gave a sudden lurch and threw her into Stuart's arms again.

"And now?" he cried laughingly, as he held her firmly for a moment to prevent her falling.

She blushed furiously, threw the ringlets of dark hair from her face and drew back to her position.

DANGER FROM GRIPPE Lies in That Cough and Weak, Worn Out Condition.

Grippe, pleurisy, pneumonia, these are greatly to be feared at this time of the year.

To prevent grippe from being followed by either pleurisy or pneumonia, it is important to drive the last traces of it out of the system quickly.

Our advice is to take Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron preparation without oil, and get your strength and vitality back quickly.

Mrs. A. A. Crabill of Strasburg, Va., says: "Grippe left me weak, run-down and with a severe cough from which I suffered four years. I tried different remedies, but nothing seemed to do me any good until I took Vinol, from which I received great benefit. My cough is almost entirely gone and I am strong and well again, and I am glad to recommend Vinol to others who suffer as I did."

Try Vinol with the certainty that if it does not benefit you we will give back your money. F. B. Johnson and Company, druggists, Rushville.

KNEW NOTHING ABOUT A PLOT

So Testifies Head of Iron Workers' Union.

A RIGID CROSS EXAMINATION

When President Frank A. Ryan Left the Stand in the Trial of Alleged Conspirators in Dynamite Plot He Was Visibly Nervous and Great Beads of Perspiration Stood Out on His Forehead.

Indianapolis, Dec. 4.—Great beads of perspiration were standing out on his forehead when President Frank M. Ryan of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers left the witness chair in the dynamiting cases at adjournment, and he was visibly nervous as a result of the grilling that he had undergone on cross-examination by the district attorney. The witness had been forced to admit that his organization had undertaken the defense of a man named O'Donald, who was arrested in Massachusetts for assault and dynamiting a bridge; that O'Donald was sent to the penitentiary; that the association paid him money regularly, and that the amount he received aggregated some $2,000. At the same time the witness said the organization had nothing to do with the dynamiting, but contributed to O'Donald out of sympathy, believing him innocent.

Letters from Frank Webb to the witness and also to J. J. McNamara were handed the witness. One of these referred to Scranton, Pa., and said: "I think some money could be spent here on the quiet and I'll guarantee that the goods will be delivered. You know how careful a man must be in a case of this kind."

Ryan, in many answers to questions, asserted that he knew nothing about the dynamiting plots. He was admonished by Judge Anderson several times for "making speeches" about the steel corporation, Erectors' association and other matters after answering the questions which had been put to him.

On cross-examination United States Attorney Miller went after the union president sharply concerning the expenditures of union funds, as Ryan's name must be signed to every check; concerning the suspension of publication of expenditures, as required by the constitution, and about some other matters concerning which Ryan had testified.

The union president testified he knew nothing about any carrying of dynamite or nitroglycerin by Ortle McNamara, and that he did not, knowingly, aid or contribute to such transportation. He said he knew "absolutely nothing" about any arrangements between J. J. McNamara, McNamara and others to carry explosives and infernal machines, or to destroy property.

MURDER TRIAL

One-Armed Boy Charged With Killing His Stepfather.

Spencer, Ind., Dec. 4.—The trial of Charles Phillips, the one-armed boy who is charged with the murder of his stepfather, John Barry, on July 29, is in progress in the Owen circuit court. According to the opening statement of the attorneys for Phillips the plea of the defendant will be that he committed the crime in self-defense. There are few witnesses and it is not expected the trial will occupy more than three days.

The crime was committed at the home of both the defendant and his victim, and Phillips says he shot Barry while he was intoxicated and abusing his mother. There had been much bad feeling between the two men for some time. The mother and sister of Phillips were the only witnesses of the shooting, which took place in a room adjoining the kitchen of the home. Phillips has been in jail at Martinsville ever since the day of the shooting, when he surrendered himself to the sheriff. When he was brought here for trial he became the first prisoner in the new jail.

Killed Her Wedding Guest.

Logansport, Ind., Dec. 4.—When a neighbor brought to the ears of Mrs. Elizabeth Lang, a bride of a day, a report of disparaging remarks Mrs. Mary Copple, another neighbor, was said to have made concerning her at the wedding supper the evening before, Mrs. Lang secured a revolver and, going to the Copple home, shot Mrs. Copple dead. Mrs. Lang is in jail.

Will Revise Registration Law.

Indianapolis, Dec. 4.—Governor Marshall has appointed Henry Warum, Democrat, and W. H. Thompson, Republican, to begin at once the revision of the 1911 registration law with a view to introducing amendments in the 1913 legislature, which will abrogate the hardships now said to be imposed by the law.

HAT PIN DANGEROUS IN WOMAN'S HANDS

Irate Wife Uses One With Telling Effect.

Pittsburg, Dec. 4.—When she found her husband, J. B. Henderson, and his paramour, Miss Birdie Howard of Akron, O., in a Federal street hotel late at night, Mrs. Henderson, angered beyond control, inflicted several serious wounds on the couple with a big hatpin before the police arrived on the scene and placed the trio under arrest. Only the timely intervention of Police Lieutenant Carroll and Patrolman Stemler saved Miss Howard from fatal injury at the hands of the irate wife. Henderson struck up a flirtation with Miss Howard on Federal street, and they retired to a well-known hostelry for refreshments. Unfortunately one of Henderson's acquaintances saw him and Miss Howard enter the hotel and immediately telephoned his wife. Shortly afterward Mrs. Henderson appeared on the scene armed with a big hatpin and sailed into Henderson's paramour. Wielding her improvised weapon with good effect, she inflicted several ugly wounds on the Akron woman. When Henderson attempted to interfere his wife turned on him like a tigress and drove thrust after thrust of the long hatpin into his arms and shoulders. While the melee was at its height Lieutenant Carroll and the patrolman put in an appearance and disarmed the infuriated woman and arrested the trio. Henderson and his paramour were given medical treatment at the hospital for their wounds.

Stabs Man With a Hatpin.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Dec. 4.—George Siniff was brought to police headquarters bleeding profusely about the breast. He had been stabbed in half a dozen places by a young woman who wielded a hatpin. She refused to tell the police anything other than that Siniff accosted her.

NOT GUILTY

This Is the Verdict of the Jury in the Snead-Boyce Case.

Fort Worth, Tex., Dec. 4.—J. Beale Snead was found not guilty of the murder of Captain A. G. Boyce, sr. Snead shot Captain Boyce to death Jan. 13, in Fort Worth, soon after Snead had returned from Winnipeg with his wife, with whom Al Boyce jr., son of Captain Boyce, had eloped. Snead claimed self-defense and also a conspiracy on the part of the Boyces to rob him of his wife.

Mrs. Snead awaited the verdict in a downtown hotel. Snead telephoned the news to her.

The Sickleses Have Made Up. New York, Dec. 4.—It looks as if the much postponed sale of General D. E. Sickles' relics to satisfy his debts, which was to have taken place today, but which Sheriff Harburger adjourned to Dec. 12, is called off for good. The long separated general and his wife have made up and she has promised to pay the $5,000 which General Sickles owes to the Bank of the Metropolis.

INTEREST LAGS IN INQUISITION

Campaign Fund Probe Not Going Much Deeper.

HALTED BY LACK OF QUORUM

Of the Five Members of the Senate Committee Appointed to Investigate the Subject of Campaign Contributions, but Two Have Reported For Duty—Senator Poindexter Talks About Impeaching the President.

Washington, Dec. 4.—For lack of a quorum the senate committee investigating campaign funds, which had been called to meet today, was unable to hold a meeting. Senators Paynter and Jones, two members of the committee, have not yet arrived in Washington, and Senator Oliver, another member, is recovering from a surgical operation. The committee is composed of five members, which leaves only Senator Clapp, the chairman, and Senator Pomerene present for business.

The committee will meet next Tuesday to decide what further action shall be taken. It begins to look as if interest in the investigation had died out, and it is presumed that after a few witnesses who have requested an opportunity to be heard have given their evidence, the hearing will be closed.

President Taft has authorized Postmaster General Hitchcock to deny the recent reports from Gainesville, Ga., that he intends to remove Mrs. Helen Longstreet, widow of the Confederate general, as postmaster of that town, on account of her alleged activity in behalf of the Bull Moose party. Mrs. Longstreet's term of office will expire on Dec. 8, and it is probable that she will be reappointed, although the Republican politicians in Georgia are endeavoring to obtain the post.

In a statement published here, Senator Miles Poindexter of Washington, member of the new Progressive party, declared President Taft had been guilty of such misuse of the federal patronage as to warrant his impeachment. Mr. Poindexter declared that it was his intention to bring the matter to the attention of the people through the medium of a speech in the senate. Mr. Poindexter charged that the Taft majority in the Chicago convention was made up in part of officeholders and in part by men who were influenced by officeholders. He called particular attention to the case of Walter Landis, former postmaster at San Juan, Porto Rico. This case, according to Senator Poindexter, Postmaster Landis was summarily removed from office by cable on the same day that Frederick Landis, a brother of Walter, delivered a speech in Indiana in which he denounced the Taft administration.

THE ARCHBALD CASE

Senate Has Begun Taking Evidence in Impeachment Trial.

Washington, Dec. 4.—The senate has referred to committees a large number of nominations sent in by the president.

President Taft's message relating to foreign affairs was received and read in both houses.

The senate adopted an order to take the Archbald impeachment trial up every day at 2 o'clock, and the taking of testimony began today at that hour.

In the house the day was devoted to consideration of the Adamson bill authorizing the interstate commerce commission to make a physical valuation of railroad property in the United States.

In his message President Taft calls upon the national legislators and the entire country to take a more modern, liberal view of the position of the United States among world powers and to grasp more fully the great changes that have taken place in the foreign relations of this government. He foresees the need of a broader American diplomacy than that of the past and appeals to the country to prepare itself for the larger part it is to play on the world's stage.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—Samuel T. Warfield, under indictment for book frauds in New York, with nine other men, surrendered to the United States authorities in Chicago, and was held in bonds of $2,500 by United States Commissioner Foote to appear for trial in New York. The true bill alleges the defendants advertised and sold books by use of the mails at grossly inflated prices, by making false and fraudulent pretenses as to their values.

CRASHED INTO REAR OF STALLED TRAIN

Another Disastrous Wreck On the Pennsylvania.

Zanesville, O., Dec. 4.—On the Cincinnati & Muskingum Valley branch of the Pennsylvania, a disastrous wreck occurred two miles from Dresden, last night, when a C. & M. V. passenger train from Trinway to Zanesville crashed into the rear of the Cleveland, Akron & Columbus local train from Millersburg to Zanesville, killing eight people, fatally injuring five others and seriously injuring seven. The dead:

Mrs. B. A. Emerson, Zanesville, and wreck occurred on the Cincinnati & her two children; Henry Albian of Cleveland; Henry Bartles, Max Harris and C. J. Blaney of Zanesville; unidentified men.

Fatally injured: Jacob Burgz, Zanesville; Wilbur Rudrick, Zanesville; Harry Barne, Huron, Mich., and L. H. Blaney, Zanesville. Soon after leaving Dresden the engine of the C. & M. V. train broke down on the curve at Rock Cut and the train came to a standstill on the main track. A brakeman started back to flag the C. & M. V. train, but before he had gone fifty yards the other train appeared and the collision occurred.

The dead and injured were brought to this city.

Jury Acquits Guy Stuart.

Greenfield, Ind., Dec. 4.—Guy Stuart, who killed his father at Fortville on the night of Nov. 7, and was tried here on a charge of first degree murder, was acquitted. The jury based its verdict on the ground that the young man had fired the fatal shot in self-defense.

WHAT A BIG RAILROAD STRIKE WOULD MEAN.

Board of Arbitration Gives Impressive Figures in Engineers' Case.

The 30,000 locomotive engineers of the eastern railroads have won their fight for an increase in wages. While the board of arbitration between the railroads and the engineers in its award does not grant all of the engineers' demands, it establishes minimum wages which amount to a substantial increase on most of the roads.

Notwithstanding the increase in compensation the representative of the engineers on the board dissents from the award and says the settlement accepted by it can be only temporary.

The board tries to impress upon the public the seriousness of the situation that would have confronted this country if the engineers had acted as they voted and quit work. The railroads involved in the controversy, it is pointed out, operate 66,876 miles of track, or more than one-fourth of the total mileage of American railroads.

Their annual operating revenues exceed $1,000,000,000, or nearly 40 per cent of the total for all the railroads of the country. They carry nearly one-half of the freight traffic of the United States and over two-fifths of the passenger traffic. Excluding general officers, the annual payroll of the employees amounts to $446,000,000 and the annual compensation of the engineers alone to nearly $38,000,000. The population of a great area of the country served by these roads is about 37,000,000, or more than 40 per cent of the total population of the country. The section of the country represents at least four-tenths of the wealth of the entire United States.

The board points out, further, that a strike would have left the large cities of the east with their food supplies exhausted within a week. The milk supply ply probably would not have lasted more than a day. The board adds that a successful general strike for the eastern district of the United States would have put that great section of the country in much the same situation that confronted France a few years ago during a general railroad strike there.

"It is evident," says the board, "that for a great section of the United States a railroad strike can no longer be considered as a matter which primarily affects the railroads, operators and employees. It is therefore imperative that some other way be found to settle differences between railroads and their employees than by strikes."

ALMOST 12 TONS OF MAIL HANDLED

Rural Route Carriers Out of This City Did Big Business For
Two Months.

NOVEMBER COUNT COMPLETED

Total Weight of Mail delivered 22,-
814 Pounds For 147,329 Pieces
—Second-Class Led List.

The work of weighing and counting all the mail delivered and collected on the twelve rural routes out of this city for the past two months has been completed and the figures show some surprising results. The amount of mail handled on the rural routes is enormous, the total weight for the months of October and November being over ten tons.

The month of November was not as heavy for the rural carriers as the month of October. The difference however is very small. During the month of November a total of 77,561 pieces of mail were delivered and 9031 pieces collected. The delivered mail weighed 10,548 pounds and that collected weighed 230 pounds. The figures for October show that the total number of pieces collected were 79,768 and weighed 12,266 pounds. For the two months a total of 147,329 pieces of mail weighing 22,814 pounds were delivered. In same time 17,613 pieces of mail weighing 500 pounds were collected from the twelve routes.

The second class mail led the list with a total of 53,122 pieces, weighing 10,112 pounds. The first-class mail weighed 308 pounds for 15,763 pieces.

The following shows the count and weight for each route for the month of November:

JURY WILL GET CASE LATE TODAY

Attorneys Begin Argument at 2
O'clock on Evidence Introduced
For And Against Wm. Hopkins.

DEFENDANT ON STAND TODAY

Pleads Self Defense in Shooting
Somers, Who Rushed at Him
With Knife, He Says.

It was not expected that the case of the State against William Hopkins, charged with shooting Lee Somers, a neighbor, with intent to kill, would be placed in the hands of the jury before five-thirty or six o'clock this evening.

The defense rested its case with the jury just before the noon intermission, and after dinner Jap Rhodes, Thomas Hayes, Lee Somers, the prosecuting witness, and his brother, A. M. Somers, were placed on the stand by the State for rebuttal to prove some minor points.

A short recess was taken and a few minutes after two o'clock the argument before the jury was begun. Will M. Sparks opened for the State, and John A. Tittsworth followed for the defense. Wallace Morgan, deputy prosecutor, was next for the State, and L. P. Newby of Knights-town closed the defense's case. M. E. Forkner of Newcastle, for the State, closed the argument. Each side was allowed an hour and a half, and after that the court's instructions to the jury were to be read.

William Hopkins, the defendant, was on the stand giving direct testimony an hour. He said he was 58 years old, had lived in his present home—Center township—eight years, moving there from Carthage where he resided fourteen years. He was born in Hancock county.

The lot of Hopkins has been a hard one, according to his testimony. During his life several of his ribs have been broken, one of his kidneys torn loose, his shoulder broken, his face badly hurt in an accident in a sawmill, one of his fingers cut off by a wagon wheel passing over it and now, to top it off, he is deaf in one ear and can't hear very well out of the other one.

Hopkins first became acquainted with Somers when the latter moved into his neighborhood. Hopkins related the story of the first trouble he and Somers ever had. Two or three years ago, he testified, he was driving some calves home when Somers ran into the road and headed them off. Hopkins said he asked Somers to get out of the way but he refused.

Hopkins said he started to make Somers get out of the way when Somers called to his brother Mat to get his gun, which Mat did, the witness said. Lee Somers took the gun, placed it in his pocket and then told Hopkins he was going to read the law to him, according to the latter's story. Finally Somers got out of the way, but followed Hopkins sixty rods down the road, the latter said.

Several years ago Hopkins said Somers offered him $1,000 for a strip of land containing nine acres. He refused and a little later Somers offered $200 an acre for the piece, Hopkins said. He took time to study the matter and told Somers he would accept, but Somers declared he said he would give $200 for one acre, according to the defendant.

One day last summer Hopkins declared he found a stake driven a yard and a third out in his field from the line between their two farms. On Monday before the shooting on Wednesday, Somers asked Hopkins if it would be all right to set the corner

DAMAGE SUITS SETTLED

Two Resulting From C. H. & D. Irvington Wreck Compromised.

Two settlements were effected yesterday for damages for victims of the C. H. & D. Railroad wreck near Indianapolis on November 13. Among the victims were Albert Allen, a cook, and his wife Clara Allen, who were on their way to Los Angeles, Cal., where they intended locating. Mrs. Allen left her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thuneman, of Cincinnati, and five sisters and two brothers, and the C. H. & D. Railway Company agreed yesterday to settle with them for her death for $4,000. Her husband, Albert Allen, however, left no known relatives, and the settlement for his death was for but $250, the cost of his funeral and the administration of his estate.

WOULD YOU JOIN WALKING CLUB?

Ten Mile Tramps Threaten to be Fad
Here as They Are in Other Cities.

PLAN INCLUDES MEETINGS

A move is on foot here to start a walking club. Rushville has a number of good walkers, and several patriots are trying to get them all together and take "hikes" of some ten miles or so at stated intervals. The plan included regular meeting, the election of officers, and well-arranged trips over the country.

The idea is meeting with favor in other cities. At Ft. Wayne "the Walker family," as it is styled, has a large membership.

The roads in and about Rushville are first class, and by taking short trolley trips some very beautiful stops can be reached in a few miles of travel. Any plans looking toward the establishment of a club will meet with ready encouragement and support.

HIGH SCHOOL WILL DEPICT ACTIVITIES

Staff is Elected And Its Effusions
Will Appear in Daily Republican can Weekly.

LOUIS HINER MADE EDITOR

The high school will have a special column in the Daily Republican once each week, probably Friday evening, in which the activities of the school will be reviewed by a student editorial staff. The faculty requested that space be given the students so they might give publicity to various phases of their work and the publishers gladly consented to do so.

Today the editorial staff was chosen by the high school. Louis Hiner was elected editor, and Ruth Innis, his assistant. The other department heads chosen were: organizations, Edith Hogsett and Orlando Simms; exchange Edwin Watson; sports, Stacy Hinkle and Mary Carr; alumni, Althea Budd and Robert Humes; comics, Paul McMahon; personals, Katherine Hitt and Florence Webb; faculty notes Marie Clawson.

TO PLACE WRECK RESPONSIBILITY

Verdict of Coroner of Marion County is Anxiously Awaited in Railroad Circles.

VICTIMS WILL NOT EXCEED 16

It is Held That no Blame Should be Attached to Sharkey, Dead Engineer.

The verdict of Coroner Durham, in which he has said he expects to place responsibility for the C. H. & D. wreck at Irvington, November 13, when sixteen lives were lost, is being awaited with unusual interest by railroad men, says the Indianapolis News. The coroner has completed the bulk of testimony, and only one or two witnesses, if any, will be called. These may be railroad men familiar with road regulations.

The coroner refuses to anticipate his verdict. It is believed he will fix in his finding the duties of the crew in charge of train No. 95, which took a siding at Irvington and left the switch open.

Much of the interest among railroad men has to do with the responsibility of William Sharkey, engineer on the passenger train, who was killed. Old railroad men say that no responsibility for the wreck should be placed on Sharkey, despite a rule of the C. H. & D. to stop a train when he notes the absence of a fixed signal.

The evidence has established the fact that the switch lamp was out. It is admitted that the switch light is a "fixed signal." They assert that it has long been customary among engineers to disregard this rule. An engineman who stops whenever he reaches a point where there should be a light and finds darkness would delay his train, it is asserted.

The rules define a fixed signal as "a signal of fixed location indicating a condition affecting the movement of a train."

Another circumstance which, it is urged, tends to cause an engineer to disregard the absence of a signal is the railroad bulletin board. That the Irvington switch light was out was posted at the union station. There is doubt whether the report was wired to Hamilton, O., where Sharkey could have seen it. The dispatcher's office in Indianapolis has no

ELECT R. G. BUDD TO SCHOOL BOARD

Is Named by City Council to Fill Vacancy Caused by Resignation of A. R. Holden.

NO OPPOSITION FOR PLACE

William A. Jones Says He Was Damaged When City Placed Walls on His Land.

R. G. Budd was elected a member of the city school board to succeed Allen R. Holden, last night by the city council in the first regular December session. Mr. Budd's name was the only one to come before the council and he had no opposition although at least one other candidate had been mentioned. The nomination was made by Councilman O. C. Norris and the election was unanimous.

The other members of the board are Bert Mullin and J. T. Arbuckle. Allen R. Holden resigned because he was recently elected Auditor of Rush county. Mr. Holden's resignation took effect November 30 and Mr. Budd will immediately become a member.

The council transacted much business last night and at the close held a committee meeting. John D. Megee appeared before the council in the interests of William A. Jones. The city has three wells and pumping stations on Mr. Jones' land east of the city and he claims to have been damaged by the city. It would seem that the special water committee in its search for water never contracted with Mr. Jones for the use of his land. The wells have been drilled and are now attached to the city's mains.

After considerable discussion it was agreed that the city appoint one man, Mr. Jones, one man and these two select the third member of a board to investigate and both parties abide by the board's decision as to the amount of damage Mr. Jones should receive. The council appointed Joseph Stiers and Mr. Jones named Ben F. McFarlan. Mr. Stiers and Mr. McFarlan will name the third member. In this manner it is hoped to settle the controversy in a satisfactory way to all concerned.

The time for hearing remonstrators on the preliminary assessment roles of Hannah, Fourth, Market and Spencer streets was last night and as none appeared the assess-

BASKETBALL HERE FRIDAY

Independents Will Take on Eurekas of Milroy.

The Independent basketball team of this city will play the fast Eureka quintet of Milroy Friday night at the high school "gym." It is the second game of the season for the locals and as the Milroy team has been playing for several weeks a hard game is expected. Milroy has the same crack team as last year when they cleaned up on about every team they played. The Rushville team started the season with a win over Liberty and hope to repeat against the Eurekas. The game will be called at 8 o'clock.

PLANS FOR BETTER FIRE PROTECTION

Manilla Committee Appointed For That Purpose Buys Parapher-

SUBSCRIBED BY CITIZENS

That Manilla is deeply interested in the matter of getting more efficient fire protection for the city was demonstrated today when the committee named at the mass meeting there last Friday night to take the initiative in the matter placed an order for a fifty-gallon chemical engine, buckets, ladders and all other paraphernalia necessary for a fire department on a small scale, says the Shelbyville Democrat.

The cost of the supplies ordered will total $450 and $320 of the amount has already been subscribed by the business men and other residents of the town.

The members of the committee taking the lead in the matter are Lon Mull, Fred Gross, Clyde Whisman, Samuel Strode and Lew Lewis. They were named by T. K. Mull, who served as the chairman of the mass meeting, and Charles Phares, who served as the secretary of the meeting. Lew Lewis is the chairman of the committee.

SHE WAS CLASS VALEDICTORIAN

First Lady of Kansas to be, Mrs.
George H. Hodges, Was Graduated Here.

AS MEMBER OF CLASS OF 1890

She Expects to be Same Mrs. Hodges as Governor's Wife as Before.

The first lady of Kansas—to be, after January first—was valedictorian of her graduating class in the Rushville high school in 1890, only a brief period of twenty-two years ago.

The first lady of Kansas, the wife of the governor-elect, George H. Hodges, is a former Rushville woman and will be remembered by many people living here now. In an interview in the Kansas City Star she tells of her early life, and what she plans for the future. Mr. and Mrs. Hodges have visited Mr. and Mrs. will Jay here. The Star says:

Though educated in Indiana, the wife of the Kansas governor-elect is a native Kansan. Also Mrs. Ora Murray Hodges has the true spirit of Kansas democracy. Olathe has liked Mrs. Hodges the better because in making out her reception lists she has not discriminated between the wives of her husband's employees and the wives of the town's richest business and professional men.

The Hodges home is one of the finest in Olathe. An extensive lawn surrounds it, a lawn which it is planned to extend over the greater part of a block and to convert into a playground for the children of the neighborhood.

Mrs. Hodges was a college sorority girl and is now a member of the Kansas City Alumni Chapter of Kappa Gamma. She graduated from Butler University in Indianapolis and prior to that, in 1890, from the Rushville, Ind., high school as class valedictorian.

Eight years of childhood on her father's big farm in Johnson County, Kansas, had been ended by the mother's death. The little girl was sent to relatives in Rushville. From the university she returned to Johnson county to keep house for her father. In 1899 she was married to Senator Hodges and a year later they went to Europe.

Mrs. Hodges' tastes would probably be termed "domestic" and public matters are subordinated to her interest in her home and her friends.

And "woman's suffrage," for Kansas is now a suffrage state! "Oh, it's all right, I guess. I was for it, but did no agitating. My husband was stronger in its support than I was. Now that women can vote, I will, of course, exercise my right; and I believe that on all moral question the very fact that women have the right to vote will have a healthful influence in political matters."

In educational matters Mrs. Hodges is an ardent advocate of manual training and domestic science.

"Among my modest attainments," she remarked recently, "I think I am proudest of the fact that when I came home to my father with a college diploma I was able to keep house and cook for him—and that I did so for the next five years. Since I have been married it has been a great happiness to live quietly and unostentatiously, caring for my household and my children. Every girl ought to leave our schools equipped to do just that."

"When we go to Topeka I expect to live just as we have in Olathe, with

Parcels Posts Compared.

There will be a reduction January 1st in the postage charged on parcels mailed in the United States. The rates will still be much higher than those long established in England, Germany and other countries of Europe, where the sending of parcels by mail, at low cost to the people, has been an extensive part of the public service for many years. It has worked no hardship abroad to any class and is recognized there as a general advantage. The reduction at hand in this country is less than is supposed by many who are apprehensive of results. A full examination of details should be made before forming an opinion of the fairness of the new regulations and the probable results. The new law was passed by Congress last summer with certain provisions showing that it is, at least in part, regarded as an experiment. Power is conferred on the postmaster general to investigate it, with the consent of the Interstate Commerce Commission, to modify weights and zone distances when experience has demonstrated that a change is needed.

Within a 300-mile zone the new rates will be 7 cents postage for the first pound, 5 cents a pound for each additional pound, and 57 cents for an 11-pound package, the maximum weight allowed. The rate will be less for smaller zones and more for larger. For more than 1800 miles the charge will be 12 cents for the first pound, 12 cents for each additional pound, and $1.32 for 11 pounds. The present charge for 11 pounds anywhere in the United States is $1.76, and the weight in any parcel is restricted to 4 pounds. The new rules will make a package of 11 pounds available.

Parcels postage in this country is not to be reduced to the foreign standard by any means. A 22-pound parcel in Germany is carried 10 miles for 17 cents, 20 miles for 22 cents, 50 miles for 37 cents, 100 miles 47 cents, 150 miles 59 cents, and any greater distance 72 cents. Rates in Austria are the same. In Mexico the postage on an 11-pound parcel is 60 cents. The reduction in this country is not at all radical.

The World's Christmas Gift.

Ninety years ago the world received a great Christmas present. That Christmas present came in the birth of Clara Barton, founder of the American Red Cross. Miss Barton is now ill at her home at Glen Echo, Md., and thousands and thousands of this and other countries are praying that her life may be spared for more years of joy over the magnificent blessings she has given the world during her long, wonderful life.

Clara Barton has been one of the world's greatest women. There have been no men in the world's history who have been greater men than she has been a great woman. In its fullness, the great length of her life has been lost. For all humanity she has wrought mightily, and yet the seeds she has planted have not produced their full measure of fruit, for every year the American Red Cross has grown and grown in its physical organization and in its wonderful work it has been able to accomplish for humanity and it will continue to grow as, perhaps, the most important factor toward the final realization of universal, world peace.

The Red Cross has protected the maimed and the helpless and the non-combatant, but it is yet to lift the combatants out of the atrocities of war and teach them to seek arbitral justice and find in international courts that which will make war a tradition of an outgrown barbarism.

If Clara Barton had never done the latest table places the vote for Wilson in the entire country at 6,156,748, that for the Republicans and third party combined at 7,304,562, and the total vote of all parties at 14,295,737. Protection was approved in the platform of the Republicans and third party. It has a majority of 1,147,814 over the Wilson vote and a majority of 156,694 in the total vote.

other than start the Red Cross Christmas seal movement in the fight on tuberculosis, she would have been one of the world's great women. The memory of the "Peace Angel's" name and greatness will ever live.

Democratic patronage pie will be abundant, but the crust shorter than ever, according to the figures of the popular vote.

The latest Democratic recipe for reducing the cost of living: "Give us back those 50,000 fourth-class post offices."

"There are many kinds of cut glass. I have been reading up on the subject since I got to be a clerk. I find the authorities say glass that which is cut with a sharp knife gives a much better effect than that where scissors are used. Glass to be cut must be a certain kind, also, and—

Here's Where the Fun Comes In

Looked Like His Father.

The Rev. C. M. Yocum, pastor of the Main Street Christian church, once had a pastorate in Osbourne, Ohio. During his work there Cyrus Jr., was born.

The youngster was only a few weeks old when one day the minister was pushing the empty cab down the street, having left the baby at the home of a friend with its mother.

By chance a woman who was a very good friend of Mr. and Mrs. Yocum passed on the opposite side of the street. She hailed the minister with the exclamation: "Oh, I have never seen that new baby. Wait a minute." And she came rushing across the street.

Thinking it would be a capital joke, he allowed her to come on across the street to see the fine baby. She pushed the top back, aglow with expectancy. When she realized the trick that had been played on her, the expression on her face never changed, and her quick wits stood her in good stead. Without a smile she observed: "How much it looks like its father, a perfect blank."

"There could be no better medicine than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My children were all sick with whooping cough. One of them was in bed, had a high fever and was coughing up blood. King George. The cables told at the time of the occupation of that Aegean seaport that immediately there arose friction between the two armies of the allies, and eventually the Bulgars left. Then the Greeks began their siege of Janina and were confident of ultimate success. But when they sent their representatives down to the armistice conferences at Baghchetsch they were amazed and at the same time indignant to discover that Serbia, Montenegro and Bulgaria were considering very favorably that clause in the armistice which provided that for the fourteen days of peace all the besieged cities were to be evacuated daily. The Greeks felt that this was altogether too lenient.

They told their representatives to hold out for the surrender of Janina, at any rate. Otherwise the Turks would import ammunition, arms, coal and food freely by sea when the blockade on the Adriatic was raised, as was proposed, and in the event of the renewal of war all the work would have to be done over again and Janina might hold out indefinitely. Janina, which is the most important town of Epirus, has always been sorely desired by Greece.

Greece also felt that if the Bulgars were content to let the Turks keep Adrianople they would demand from Greece land that they had captured from the Turks as compensation.

At Chios and Mitylene, too, where there was fighting on Sunday and Monday, the Greeks felt that they would lose all they had gained if the armies remained in their positions for the fourteen days of the truce, and they demanded the surrender of the Turkish arms on these two islands.

It is said the actual peace negotiations will be held in London.

THE NOWILL CASE

Coroner's Jury at New Quay Returns an Open Verdict.

New Quay, Wales, Dec. 4.—At the conclusion of the inquest into the death of Mrs. Sidney Nowill, the young and handsome wife of a Sheffield manufacturer, who disappeared from the Atlantic hotel here on Nov. 2, and whose body was found Monday in a cove at the bottom of a precipitous cliff, the jury returned an open verdict of death by drowning. There was no evidence adduced as to how Mrs. Nowill got into the water. Mr. Nowill testified that he had confidence in his wife's fidelity. James A. Delany, the man who committed suicide just before the body of Mrs. Nowill was found, is known to have been an admirer of the young woman, but the coroner discovered nothing to connect him with the death of Mrs. Nowill.

JACK JOHNSON

Champion Pugilist Has Just Married Another White Girl.

JACK JOHNSON AND WHITE GIRL MARRY

Lucille Cameron Not Cured of Her Infatuation.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—By marrying Lucille Cameron, an attractive white girl, whose home is in Minneapolis, and for the love of whom a large part of the negro's troubles with the federal and city authorities is responsible, Jack Johnson, negro pugilist, brought to a climax the series of exciting events that have crowded his life in the last few months. It was the discovery that the pugilist had transferred his affections to this nineteen-year-old girl that caused his first wife, Etta Duryea, also a white woman, to take her own life several weeks ago.

The ceremony took place at the home of the pugilist which he gave his mother on Wabash avenue. In the presence of two score friends, white and black, of the fighter. It was performed by a negro preacher. The couple left the house immediately after the ceremony, and it was given out that they were going to New York and Boston on a honeymoon trip.

Marks End of Bitter Fight.

This marks the end of the bitter fight made by the mother of the girl, Mrs. Ethel Cameron Falconet, and several women's clubs in Chicago, who in their efforts to save the girl, interested the federal authorities, who caused to be returned a number of indictments charging Johnson with violation of the Mann act against traffic in girls by transporting them from one state to another.

As the result of these exposures the city authorities have closed Johnson's cafe and put him out of business.

The marriage of the negro and the Cameron girl will not affect his prosecution on charges under the Mann act in the sense that a wife is barred from giving testimony against her husband. The indictments under which Johnson is to be tried concern his relations with a different woman, Belle Schreiber.

Early Hearing of Johnson's Case. Washington, Dec. 4.—The supreme court has advanced for hearing on Jan. 6 the case against Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, charging a violation of the white slave act.

The Reason Our Storm Buggy Business is So Large

and is continually increasing is because we are giving our customers true value for their money. This is the one policy that is bound to build up a business and the only one that never fails. When you see our line of storm buggies and compare the quality of them with other makes on the market you will see that our buggies are far ahead of the rest in style, quality and finish and the large business we have built up by giving honest values, enables us to buy buggies in large quantities and by doing this we can buy at a price that puts us in a position to sell you buggies at a price that our competitors are unable to meet with the same class of goods. Don't buy a Storm Buggy until you have examined our line of buggies. We have the buggy you want at the price you want to pay, and if you don't get it, it won't be our fault.

JURY WILL GET CASE LATE TODAY

stone where the stake was. Hopkins said no.

The defendant declared there was a post which designated where the line was and that it had been set by Somers. The witness declared Somers wanted to survey from the farther side of his farm, a distance of eighty rods, to determine the line, but Hopkins asserted he objected and asked that the survey be made from the other side of his field a distance of twelve and three-quarters rods because that was what his deed called for.

On Monday before the shooting, Somers told Hopkins, the latter testified, that a surveyor from Rushville would be there Tuesday or Wednesday to make the survey. Tuesday morning Hopkins and his son Harvey went to Somers' barn and told Somers, the witness said, that he did not want their line disturbed. Hopkins said Somers declared the hogs had rooted the corner post out, but the defendant swore it was embedded in the roots.

The defendant and his son started home, but the former was called by Somers, according to Hopkins' testimony, Somers explaining that he wanted to prove his assertions about his land by his deed. The witness testified Somers insisted on Hopkins remaining, declaring all the time his wife would get the deed.

Hopkins said he saw Lee's brother, Arthur Somers, pass the window outside, then Lee went out to meet him and they came in together and went directly and got the deed. Later, the witness said, Lee's wife came in and demurred about the papers being disturbed. Hopkins declared what Somers was looking for was not in the deed, he testified, and then Somers tip-toed to his side, raised his hand threateningly and said: "Damn you, if you want trouble, you can find it." Hopkins said Arthur Somers slipped up behind him. Seeing he was in close quarters, the witness declared, he made a dash for the door and ran into the highway, then inviting the Somers brothers out.

In describing the incident surrounding the shooting, Hopkins said he first saw Somers on a plow when he was about 65 steps away. Somers looked and saw Hopkins, the witness declared, got off his plow, drew his knife and opened it. Hopkins said he was leading a cow with his left hand and that he picked up a rock with his right after Somers opened his knife. Somers ran to a tree and cut a stick, the defendant declared, and then started north toward Hopkins.

Hopkins testified he said: "Lee, didn't you lie a little about that surveyor coming?" He said Somers denied it. Hopkins then said, according to his story: "Lee, if you would tell the truth, people would think more of you." Somers made a retort to that and Hopkins continued, he testified, as follows: "My wife has said that I shouldn't have anything to do with you." He repeated his remembrance of Somers' reply, and then testified he said: "Lee, you are the biggest liar in the county."

Somers started toward Hopkins with the opened knife, the defendant testified, and he threw a rock at him. Somers dodged it, Hopkins said, and he picked up another one, but before he could throw it, Somers was so close he struck him in the back and then fled, letting his cow go at the same time.

When Somers said: "Damn you, I'll kill you," Hopkins testified he drew his gun and shot, not intending to kill him. He said if Somers had not turned his back suddenly, the bullet would never have hit him. When Arthur Somers came toward him from the other side of the field, Hopkins declared, he warned him with the assertion: "Stop or I'll hurt you. I just shot Lee as he was coming toward me with an open knife."

Hopkins continued that he caught his cow, pulled the halter off and turned it loose, went across the fields to his home, and about eleven o'clock that night started to Rushville with his son Harvey to give himself over to the sheriff. Hopkins left his son at the first road that leads on to the pike north of Rushville, he testified, and walked to the edge of Rushville, when the thought came to him that he had no one to go on his bond and that perhaps he should not give himself up yet.

He testified he went east until he reached a railroad and then followed it for twelve miles to a station. From there he went four miles to an inter-urban line and boarded a car to Connersville. From there he went to Cincinnati by rail, thence to Covington, Ky., and on down thirty-five miles into Campbell county. Kentucky to the home of his uncle.

Hopkins said he remained there eleven days; returned home, went to the jail, told the sheriff who he was, and then gave bond and was released.

Harvey and Albert Hopkins, sons of the defendant, David Matthewson and Dr. Earl McCall testified for the defense this morning.

It was developed on cross-examination by the State's attorneys that Hopkins has carried a gun almost continuously for forty years, according to his own admissions. He said he used it to shoot at rats. The State touched on other points of the story as told by him in direct examination, but in the main he was not much confused.

The State's attorney gained from the defendant an admission that he had once shot a man at Carthage. The State let it drop at that.

The attorneys for Hopkins attempted to pry into the circumstances surrounding the shooting at Carthage and developed the fact that it was a negro who had an altercation with Hopkins. John A. Titworth of the defense tried to bring the details of the quarrel out as evidence.

Will M. Sparks of the State objected on the ground that the defense had no right to question him as to the details of a shooting which happened, according to Hopkins, fifteen years ago. Judge Blair sustained the motion of the State and cited legal authorities which he said would uphold him in the ruling that the admission of the defendant either one way or the other would be binding to both parties and could not be entered into further.

The attorneys for the defendant were making their objections to the ruling of the court a matter of record when the State's attorneys withdrew their objections and the details of the incident were brought out.

Hopkins testified he and a negro were working together in a mill in Carthage, and the negro one day drew back with a heavy piece of gas pipe to strike him. Hopkins declared that in order to save his life he shot at the negro and the bullet penetrated the negro's shoulder, causing him to drop the pipe.

"You did not mean to shoot him either, I suppose," observed M. E. Forkner of the State rather sarcastically.

Hopkins replied that he did but that he did not shoot to kill the negro. He said he merely wanted to frighten him and make him drop the piece of pipe.

"You shot him more than once?" asked Mr. Forkner.

"When I got started," replied the defendant, "I guess I finally shot at him four times."

PREPARED FOR XMAS SHOPPERS

Rushville Merchants Have Stocks Arranged and Displayed for Annual Holiday Rush.

WHICH OUGHT TO BE AVOIDED

Mutual Gain and Satisfaction is Result of Supplying Christmas Needs Now.

Christmas is only three weeks distant and local merchants are congratulating themselves over the fact that many holiday purchases are being made every day and prospects are for more early buying this year than usual. With Thanksgiving just passed, many windows already bear a holiday touch. Every store has some hidden away allotment of floor space, however, which bears its Christmas "window trim" all ready for the word which will present it to the gaze of the business street pedestrian.

Shoppers for today in most of the local stores are also being urged to shop for tomorrow, for mutual benefit.

"Really the dreaded Christmas rush would be a thing of the past," said a dealer yesterday, "if holiday shoppers would only stop and remember that right now they can get a far bigger selection, have more time to make their choice and have better and more personal attention from the clerks than when a dozen people are wanting to see the same thing and three customers are trying to get one clerk's attention. While we make every provision physically possible to care for the Christmas buyer there is a turmoil and hurry that is unavoidable with so many persons all bent toward the same goal—doing their shopping nicely and all at once."

"Early Christmas shopping means less congestion for the merchant's sales, wrapping and delivering force means less hard work and nervous stress for the clerks, and gives the prospective purchaser every advantage in choosing with deliberation from stocks when at their fullest."

Postmaster France is expecting the usual letters to Santa Claus for which the time is just about at hand. The pink-cheeked old children's friend will get them all too, the postmaster says.

The Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias will have a called meeting Thursday night and a large attendance is desired.

The teachers and officers of the St. Paul M. E. Sunday school will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the church parlors. Business of importance is to be transacted and a large attendance is desired.

The funeral services of Boone Gilson will be held Friday morning at 10 o'clock at the late residence, two miles north of the city. Burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

The funeral services of Thomas Jefferson Carr will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Alvan Moor in North Main street by the Rev. W. H. Wylie, assisted by the Rev. V. W. Tevis. Burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Palace theater will show tonight "The Guardian Angel," a Milano drama. The other offering for tonight will be "The Parson and the Medicine Man," in which Miss Margaret Fisher is featured in the stellar role. The latter is a comedy with a wholesome, farcical plot.

The Princess offers an unusually good program tonight with a Vitagraph and Biograph drama featuring the bill. "The Irony of Fate" is the title of the Vitagraph. Florence Turner is shown in this picture. The other is a Western subject, "Friends" featuring Mary Pickford. Tomorrow night a Lubin "The Doctor's Debt," will be shown.

—Mrs. A. N. Marlatt of Connersville spent the day here with her daughter, Mrs. J. H. Scholl.

MAKE APPEAL FOR POOR OF RUSHVILLE

Officers of Local Salvation Army Ask Help to Bring Christmas Cheer to Unfortunates.

FACE WINTER RELIEF WORK

Envoy and Mrs. Sparks, officers in charge of the local Salvation Army Corps, made the following statement to the public today:

"We are again facing our winter relief work among the worthy poor, and planning for our greatest effort in this direction, our annual Christmas dinners to poor families have brought timely relief and holiday cheer to the homes of the unfortunate where only sorrow and poverty reign. Our relief work among the many poor families, who look to us for aid, is carried on in an efficient and systematic way during the entire year and our object to relieve and bless irrespective of creed or nationality is well known, as also our method which promises quick assistance, with the least possible fear of pauperism. The children will not be forgotten, and in connection with the Christmas dinners they will be given a treat of nuts, candies, fruits, etc. It will be impossible for us to carry out our plans without the assistance of the public; and your contribution, whether large or small, will be gratefully accepted with our sincere gratitude and the humble thanks of the recipient of your generosity, and used for the purpose of helping the needy."

SOCIETY NOTES.

The Utopia Club will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. John Morris in North Harrison street.

THE ROOT OF EVIL

BY THOMAS DIXON

Copyright, 1911, by Thomas Dixon

He turned and saw Nan standing in the doorway with a curious smile on her flushed face.

"May I, too, offer my congratulations, Miss Woodman?" she asked.

Harriet's little figure suddenly stiffened at the sight of Nan, but at the sound of her friendly voice relaxed and moved to meet the extended hand.

"Thank you, Mrs. Bivens," she replied cordially.

And then Stuart did something that sent a shock through every fiber of Nan's being.

As easily and naturally as a big brother he slipped one of his long arms around Harriet and looked down with frank admiration into her eyes.

"You see, Nan, she's mine. I raised her from a wee little mite. And this was such a cruel and dangerous experiment—she had no chance. It was impossible, but, God bless her, she did it!"

Nan made up her mind instantly to act on a plan that had been vaguely forming and tempting her for the past months. It was her trump card. She had hesitated to play it, but she would do it now without delay.

CHAPTER XXII.

Through Purple Curtains.

WHEN Nan made up her mind she acted with lightning rapidity. She would force Stuart to an avowal of love that would fix their relation beyond disturbance by the little singer. She had too fine a sense of values to permit herself to become entangled in an intrigue.

She could wait and gain in power for the waiting. Her physician had told her that Bivens' days were numbered.

But on one thing she was determined. She must know that Jim loved her still, loved her passionately, madly as she believed he did. But he must say it. She had no difficulty in persuading Bivens to urge Stuart to visit their country estate in the mountains of North Carolina. The doctor had ordered him there to live in the open air.

The young lawyer refused to go at first, but Bivens urged with such pathetic eagerness he was compelled to accept.

It was a warm, beautiful morning the last week in March when he alighted on the platform of the little railroad station on the estate and took his seat beside Nan in her big touring car. The fruit trees were in full bloom, and their perfume filled the air. The hum of bees and the song of birds he had known in his boyhood thrilled his heart. "It's glorious, Nan!" he exclaimed. "Your coming makes it perfect, Jim."

As the river made a graceful curve Bivens' house swept into full view—a

Friends and Neighbors in Rushville Will Show You a Way.

Get at the root of the trouble.

Rubbing an aching back may relieve it.

But won't cure it if the kidneys are weak.

You must reach the root of it—the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills go right at it; reach the cause; attack the pain.

Are recommended by many Rushville people.

Harrison Levi, 931 North Sexton street, Rushville, Ind., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are the only remedy that ever did me any good. I am glad to confirm what I said in their praise in 1907. I had to get up several times at night to pass the kidney secretions which were some times attended with pain. I had severe backaches, too. I finally got Doan's Kidney Pills at Johnson & Co's Drug Store and it did not take them long to make me well. The pains all left and the action of my kidneys became regular. I am now free from kidney weakness."

Stunning pile of marble 300 feet long, its tower piercing the turquoise sky in solemn grandeur. The stone parapet on which its front wall was built rose in massive strength a hundred feet from the ledge in the granite cliff before touching the first line of the white stones of the house itself.

At the end a formal garden had been built on the foundations of masonry which cost $100,000.

For an hour the car swept like a spirit over the miles of smooth macadam private roads Bivens had built. At each graceful turn his wonder increased at the luxurious outlay of millions.

From each hilltop as the huge gleaming castle came into view from a new angle, revealing its marvelous beauty, he thought with a touch of pity of the shuffling figure of the stricken man limping through its halls helpless, lonely, miserable.

What strange pranks fate plays with the mighty as well as the lowly! So frail was the broken body now he did not dare risk a cold by taking a ride with his wife.

The machine turned suddenly up a hill and glided through two iron gates opening on the lawn, and the great white chateau loomed before them in a flash of blinding beauty. Stuart caught his breath. He shook hands with Bivens and was shocked to find him so weak.

The little man held his hand with a lingering wishfulness as he looked into his friend's strong face.

"You don't know how rich you are, Jim," he said feebly, "with this hand that grips like iron. I'd give millions to feel my heart beat like yours today."

"You'll get better down here," Stuart answered cheerfully.

"I'm trying it anyhow," he said listlessly. "Make yourself at home, old boy. This house is my pride. I want Nan to show you every nook and corner in it. I wish I could trot around with you, but I can't."

"As soon as you're changed your clothes," Nan said familiarly, "come down to the library and I'll show you around."

Stuart followed the man assigned as his valet to the electric elevator and in a minute stepped out on the fourth floor. He observed with a smile that his room number was 157.

"The idea of living in a huge hotel and calling it a home!" he mused, with grim humor. "Room 157—great Scott!" His hostess showed him first the library. The magnificent room contained more than 40,000 volumes, bound in hand tooled morocco.

"The funny thing, of course," Nan whispered, "is that Cal has never read one of these exquisitely bound books."

"Why on earth did he make this room the most stately and beautiful one in the house?"

"Maybe he didn't!" she laughed. "I'm going to give you a privilege no mere man has ever enjoyed in this house before—I am going to show you my own rooms."

When the tour of inspection had been completed she led him to her own suite, which was located in the southwestern corner, overlooking the magnificent formal gardens with their artificial lake, fountains, statuary and a wilderness of flowers, and farther on over the beautiful valleys of the Swannanoa and the French Broad rivers. Beyond the river valleys rose range after range of mountains.

The magnificence of her bedroom was stunning. Stuart rubbed his eyes in amazement. She had taken herself seriously in the creation of this room, and had spent a round million on its ivory bedstead, its purple and gold velvet hangings, its wonderful carvings.

The picture she made standing in this wonderful room was one that never faded from his memory. The poise of her superb form; the fires that smoldered in the depths of her eyes; the tenderness with which her senses seemed to drink in the daring luxury; the smile that played about her lips, joyous, sensuous, cruel!

"It seems all a dream, Nan," he said. "I'll rub my eyes and wake up directly. I thought your New York house a miracle. This is fairyland."

"Perhaps it would be," she said, looking at him a moment through half closed eyes, "if only the prince"—

A look of pain unconsciously clouded his face, and the sentence was not finished.

On the fourth day Nan planned a coaching party to ascend Mount Mitchell, the highest peak in the land of the sky, the highest point of ground that side the Rockies. She had taken this trip with Stuart sixteen years before. She was then but fifteen, and he had just begun to dangle at her heels. She did not tell him their destination.

The party consisted of half a dozen boys and girls whom Nan was chaperoning. Stuart, the footman and coachman. The start was made at sunrise. The morning was glorious, the air rich with the full breath of a southern spring.

At the foot of the first hill the coach suddenly stopped beside the banks of the Swannanoa river.

Nan leaped to the ground, drew Stuart with her to the rear of the coach, and raised her arms.

"Lift me up," she cried, laughing. He placed his hands under her arms and with a leap and a cry of laughter she was in the empty baggage rack.

"Now up with you!" she cried. In a moment Stuart was seated snugly by her side and the big red coach was rolling along the old road.

"Now, sir," Nan whispered, "do you know where you are going?"

Stuart nodded. "To a certain peak among the clouds, where you and I once went a thousand years ago."

Nan nestled a little closer, or perhaps it was the swaying of the coach that made him think she did, and softly said:

"You remember this road?" "I've seen it a hundred times in my dreams since that wonderful day. It winds along the banks of the Swannanoa for twenty miles, always climbing higher and higher until the river becomes a limpid trout stream. We stop at the old roadside, stay all night and next morning take the bridge path with the funny pack horses and climb to the first mountain top, still following the little stream."

"Fine, Jimmy, fine!" she cried, with girlish mockery. "Your geography lesson was perfect! You can walk home with me after school."

Stuart looked at her and broke into a laugh. Again they were boy and girl, and the only change he could see was that she was more splendidly beautiful at thirty-one than she had ever promised to be at fifteen.

"You remember how shocked you were in this same seat, Jim, that day in the sweet long ago when the old coach threw me into your arms?"

"Yes, I felt that I was taking a mean advantage of you."

"I thought you were an awful foot not to accept more gracefully and thankfully the providence which threw a pretty girl your way."

The coach gave a sudden lurch and threw her into Stuart's arms again.

"And now?" he cried laughingly, as he held her firmly for a moment to prevent her falling.

She blushed furiously, threw the ringlets of dark hair from her face and drew back to her position.

To be continued.

DANGER FROM GRIPPE

Lies in That Cough and Weak, Worn Out Condition.

Grippe, pleurisy, pneumonia, these are greatly to be feared at this time of the year.

To prevent grippe from being followed by either pleurisy or pneumonia, it is important to drive the last traces of it out of the system quickly.

Our advice is to take Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron preparation without oil, and get your strength and vitality back quickly.

Mrs. A. A. Crabb of Strasburg, Va., says: "Grippe left me weak, run-down and with a severe cough from which I suffered four years. I tried different remedies, but nothing seemed to do me any good until I took Vinol, from which I received great benefit. My cough is almost entirely gone and I am strong and well again, and I am glad to recommend Vinol to others who suffer as I did."

Try Vinol with the certainty that if it does not benefit you we will give back your money. F. B. Johnson and Company, druggists, Rushville.

KNEW NOTHING ABOUT A PLOT

So Testifies Head of Iron Workers' Union.

A RIGID CROSS EXAMINATION

When President Frank A. Ryan Left the Stand in the Trial of Alleged Conspirators in Dynamite Plot He Was Visibly Nervous and Great Beads of Perspiration Stood on His Forehead.

Indianapolis, Dec. 4.—Great beads of perspiration were standing out on his forehead when President Frank M. Ryan of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers left the witness chair in the dynamiting cases at adjournment, and he was visibly nervous as a result of the grilling that he had undergone on cross-examination by the district attorney. The witness had been forced to admit that his organization had undertaken the defense of a man named O'Donald, who was arrested in Massachusetts for assault and dynamiting a bridge; that O'Donald was sent to the penitentiary; that the association paid him money regularly, and that the amount he received aggregated some $2,000. At the same time the witness said the organization had nothing to do with the dynamiting, but contributed to O'Donald out of sympathy, believing him innocent.

Letters from Frank Webb to the witness and also to J. J. McNamara were handed the witness. One of these referred to Scranton, Pa., and said: "I think some money could be spent here on the quiet and I'll guarantee that the goods will be delivered. You know how careful a man must be in a case of this kind."

Ryan, in many answers to questions, asserted that he knew nothing about the dynamiting plots. He was admonished by Judge Anderson several times for "making speeches" about the steel corporation, Erectors' association and other matters after answering the questions which had been put to him.

On cross-examination United States Attorney Miller went after the union president sharply concerning the expenditures of union funds, as Ryan's name must be signed to every check; concerning the suspension of publication of the constitution, as required by the constitution, and about some other matters concerning which Ryan had testified.

The union president testified he knew nothing about any carrying of dynamite or nitroglycerin by Orrie McNamara, and that he did not know, knowingly, aid or contribute to such transportation. He said he knew "absolutely nothing" about any arrangements between J. J. McNamara, McNamara and others to carry explosives and infernal machines, or to destroy property.

MURDER TRIAL

One-Armed Boy Charged With Killing His Stepfather.

Spencer, Ind., Dec. 4.—The trial of Charles Phillips, the one-armed boy who is charged with the murder of his stepfather, John Barry, on July 29, is in progress in the Owen circuit court. According to the opening statement of the attorneys for Phillips the plea of the defendant will be that he committed the crime in self-defense. There are few witnesses and it is not expected the trial will occupy more than three days.

The crime was committed at the home of both the defendant and his victim, and Phillips says he shot Barry while he was intoxicated and abusing his mother. There had been much bad feeling between the two men for some time. The mother and sister of Phillips were the only witnesses of the shooting, which took place in a room adjoining the kitchen of the home. Phillips has been in jail at Martinsville ever since the day of the shooting, when he surrendered himself to the sheriff. When he was brought here for trial he became the first prisoner in the new jail.

Killed Her Wedding Guest.

Logansport, Ind., Dec. 4.—When a neighbor brought to the ears of Mrs. Elizabeth Lang, a bride of a day, a report of disparaging remarks Mrs. Mary Copple, another neighbor, was said to have made concerning her at the wedding supper the evening before, Mrs. Lang secured a revolver and, going to the Copple home, shot Mrs. Copple dead. Mrs. Lang is in jail.

HAT PIN DANGEROUS IN WOMAN'S HANDS

Irate Wife Uses One With Telling Effect.

Pittsburg, Dec. 4.—When she found her husband, J. B. Henderson, and his paramour, Miss Birdie Howard of Akron, O., in a Federal street hotel late at night, Mrs. Henderson, angered beyond control, inflicted several serious wounds on the couple with a big hatpin before the police arrived on the scene and placed the trio under arrest. Only the timely intervention of Police Lieutenant Carroll and Patrolman Stenler saved Miss Howard from fatal injury at the hands of the irate wife. Henderson struck up a flirtation with Miss Howard on Federal street, and they retired to a well-known hostelry for refreshments. Unfortunately one of Henderson's acquaintances saw him and Miss Howard enter the hotel and immediately telephoned his wife. Shortly afterward Mrs. Henderson appeared on the scene armed with a big hatpin and sailed into Henderson's paramour. Wielding her improvised weapon with good effect, she inflicted several ugly wounds on the Akron woman. When Henderson attempted to interfere his wife turned on him like a tigress and drove thrust after thrust of the long hatpin into his arms and shoulders. While the melee was at its height Lieutenant Carroll and the patrolman put in an appearance and disarmed the infuriated woman and arrested the trio. Henderson and his paramour were given medical treatment at the hospital for their wounds.

Stabs Man With a Hatpin.

NOT GUILTY

This Is the Verdict of the Jury in the Snead-Boyce Case.

Fort Worth, Tex., Dec. 4.—J. Beale Snead was found not guilty of the murder of Captain A. G. Boyce, sr. Snead shot Captain Boyce to death Jan. 13, in Fort Worth, soon after Snead had returned from Winnipeg with his wife, with whom Al Boyce jr., son of Captain Boyce, had eloped.

Snead claimed self-defense and also a conspiracy on the part of the Boyces to rob him of his wife.

Mrs. Snead awaited the verdict in a downtown hotel. Snead telephoned the news to her.

The Sickles Have Made Up.

New York, Dec. 4.—It looks as if the much postponed sale of General D. E. Sickles' relics to satisfy his debts, which was to have taken place today, but which Sheriff Harburger adjourned to Dec. 12, is called off for good. The long separated general and his wife have made up and she has promised to pay the $5,000 which General Sickles owes to the Bank of the Metropolis.

INTEREST LAGS IN INQUISITION

Campaign Fund Probe Not Going Much Deeper.

HALTED BY LACK OF QUORUM

Of the Five Members of the Senate Committee Appointed to Investigate the Subject of Campaign Contributions, but Two Have Reported For Duty—Senator Poindexter, Talks About Impeaching the President.

Washington, Dec. 4.—For lack of a quorum the senate committee investigating campaign funds, which had been called to meet today, was unable to hold a meeting. Senators Paynter and Jones, two members of the committee, have not yet arrived in Washington, and Senator Oliver, another member, is recovering from a surgical operation. The committee is composed of five members, which leaves only Senator Clapp, the chairman, and Senator Pomerene present for business.

The committee will meet next Tuesday to decide what further action shall be taken. It begins to look as if interest in the investigation had died out, and it is presumed that after a few witnesses who have requested an opportunity to be heard have given their evidence, the hearing will be closed.

President Taft has authorized Postmaster General Hitchcock to deny the recent reports from Gainesville, Ga., that he intends to remove Mrs. Helen Longstreet, widow of the Confederate general, as postmaster of that town, on account of her alleged activity in behalf of the Bull Moose party. Mrs. Longstreet's term of office will expire on Dec. 8, and it is probable that she will be reappointed, although the Republican politicians in Georgia are endeavoring to obtain the post.

In a statement published here, Senator Miles Poindexter of Washington, member of the new Progressive party, declared President Taft had been guilty of such misuse of the federal patronage as to warrant his impeachment. Mr. Poindexter declared that it was his intention to bring the matter to the attention of the people through the medium of a speech in the senate. Mr. Poindexter charged that the Taft majority in the Chicago convention was made up in part of officeholders and in part by men who were influenced by officeholders. He called particular attention to the case of Walter Landis, former postmaster at San Juan, Porto Rico. This case, according to Senator Poindexter, Postmaster Landis was summarily removed from office by cable on the same day that Frederick Landis, a brother of Walter, delivered a speech in Indiana in which he denounced the Taft administration.

THE ARCHBALD CASE

Senate Has Begun Taking Evidence in Impeachment Trial.

Washington, Dec. 4.—The senate has referred to committees a large number of nominations sent in by the president.

President Taft's message relating to foreign affairs was received and read in both houses.

The senate adopted an order to take the Archbald impeachment trial up every day at 2 o'clock, and the taking of testimony began today at that hour.

In the house the day was devoted to consideration of the Adamson bill authorizing the interstate commerce commission to make a physical valuation of railroad property in the United States.

In his message President Taft calls upon the national legislators and the entire country to take a more modern, liberal view of the position of the United States among world powers and to grasp more fully the great changes that have taken place in the foreign relations of this government. He foresees the need of a broader American diplomacy than that of the past and appeals to the country to prepare itself for the larger part it is to play on the world's stage.

SURRENDERS

Samuel T. Warfield, Wanted on Book Fraud Charge, Gives Up.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—Samuel T. Warfield, under indictment for book frauds in New York, with nine other men, surrendered to the United States authorities in Chicago, and was held in bonds of $2,500 by United States Commissioner Foote to appear for trial in New York. The true bill alleges the defendants advertised and sold books by use of the mails at grossly inflated prices, by making false and fraudulent pretenses as to their values.

Shocking Crime in New Jersey. Trenton, N. J., Dec. 4.—Luella Marshall, twenty-eight years old, was assaulted and left unconscious in a field as she was returning from a neighbor's house to her home on the Ewingville road, near this city, last night.

She is in a critical condition, with little hope of recovery. The assault was committed near a negro settlement, which leads to the assumption that the assault was committed by a negro. She has not regained consciousness sufficiently to give any clue to the identity of her assailant.

CRASHED INTO REAR OF STALLED TRAIN

Another Disastrous Wreck On the Pennsylvania.

Zanesville, O., Dec. 4.—On the Cincinnati & Muskingum Valley branch of the Pennsylvania, a disastrous wreck occurred two miles from Dresden, last night, when a C. & M. V. passenger train from Triway to Zanesville crashed into the rear of the Cleveland, Akron & Columbus local train from Millersburg to Zanesville, killing eight people, fatally injuring five others and seriously injuring seven. The dead:

Mrs. B. A. Emerson, Zanesville, and wreck occurred on the Cincinnati & her two children; Henry Albion of Cleveland; Henry Bartles, Max Harris and C. J. Blancy of Zanesville; unidentified man.

Fatally injured: Jacob Burgy, Zanesville; Wilbur Rudrick, Zanesville; Harry Barne, Huron, Mich., and L. H. Blancy, Zanesville.

Soon after leaving Dresden the engine of the C. & M. V. train broke down on the curve at Rock Cut and the train came to a standstill on the main track. A brakeman started back to flag the C. & M. V. train, but before he had gone fifty yards the other train appeared and the collision occurred.

The dead and injured were brought to this city.

Jury Acquits Guy Stuart.

Greenfield, Ind., Dec. 4.—Guy Stuart, who killed his father at Fortville on the night of Nov. 7, and was tried here on a charge of first degree murder, was acquitted. The jury based its verdict on the ground that the young man had fired the fatal shot in self-defense.

WHAT A BIG RAILROAD STRIKE WOULD MEAN.

Board of Arbitration Gives Impressive Figures in Engineers' Case.

The 30,000 locomotive engineers of the eastern railroads have won their fight for an increase in wages. While the board of arbitration between the railroads and the engineers in its award does not grant all of the engineers' demands, it establishes minimum wages which amount to a substantial increase on most of the roads.

Notwithstanding the increase in compensation the representative of the engineers on the board dissents from the award and says the settlement accepted by it can be only temporary.

The board tries to impress upon the public the seriousness of the situation that would have confronted this country if the engineers had acted as they voted and quit work. The railroads involved in the controversy, it is pointed out, operate 66,876 miles of track, or more than one-fourth of the total mileage of American railroads.

Their annual operating revenues exceed $1,000,000,000, or nearly 40 per cent of the total for all the railroads of the country. They carry nearly one-half of the freight traffic of the United States and over two-fifths of the passenger traffic. Excluding general officers, the annual payroll of the employees amounts to $446,000,000 and the annual compensation of the engineers alone to nearly $38,000,000. The population of a great area of the country served by these roads is about 37,000,000, or more than 40 per cent of the total population of the country. The section of the country represents at least four-tenths of the wealth of the entire United States.

The board points out, further, that a strike would have left the large cities of the east with their food supplies exhausted within a week. The milk supply probably would not have lasted more than a day. The board adds that a successful general strike for the eastern district of the United States would have put that great section of the country in much the same situation that confronted France a few years ago during a general railroad strike there.

"It is evident," says the board, "that for a great section of the United States a railroad strike can no longer be considered as a matter which primarily affects the railroads, operators and employees. It is therefore imperative that some other way be found to settle differences between railroads and their employees than by strikes."

ALMOST 12 TONS OF MAIL HANDLED

Rural Route Carriers Out of This City Did Big Business For
Two Months.

NOVEMBER COUNT COMPLETED

Total Weight of Mail delivered 22-
814 Pounds For 147,329 Pieces
—Second-Class Led List.

The work of weighing and counting all the mail delivered and collected on the twelve rural routes out of this city for the past two months has been completed and the figures show some surprising results. The amount of mail handled on the rural routes is enormous, the total weight for the months of October and November being over ten tons.

The month of November was not as heavy for the rural carriers as the month of October. The difference however is very small. During the month of November a total of 77,561 pieces of mail were delivered and 9031 pieces collected. The delivered mail weighed 10,548 pounds and that collected weighed 230 pounds. The figures for October show that the total number of pieces collected were 79,768 and weighed 12,266 pounds. For the two months a total of 147,329 pieces of mail weighing 22,814 pounds were delivered. In same time 17,613 pieces of mail weighing 500 pounds were collected from the twelve routes.

The second class mail led the list with a total of 53,122 pieces, weighing 10,112 pounds. The first-class mail weighed 308 pounds for 15,763 pieces.

The following shows the count and weight for each route for the month of November:

an open door to all our friends, rich or poor."

Mrs. Hodges is a director of the Olathe public library and is interested in literary organization. She is a member of the Christian church.

The governor-elect has two children, Georgia Hodges, 7 years old, now in the second grade of the Olathe schools, and Murray Hartshorn Hodges, 2½ years old, a lively youngster whom no one calls Murray, but who usually has to respond to "Bill," "Jimmy" or "Murphy."

Another member of the household of the governor-elect is little Miss Jessie Hodges, a 6-year-old daughter of Frank Hodges. She is a motherless bairn and the almost inseparable companion of her cousin, Georgia, and the special care of the white haired grandmother, who has been more than a mother to her and who lives in the same house with her two sons, Frank and George H. Hodges. To Mrs. Lydia A. Hodges, the political and business successes of her sons has been particularly gratifying. She has gone through the years of struggle with them, and while she has always protested against either of them getting into politics, she is decidedly pleased when they win.

BASEBALL MEN WILL MEET

Will Discuss Plans For State League
Sunday.

A call has been issued for a meeting of the baseball managers of the proposed Indiana State League for Sunday afternoon at one-thirty o'clock at the Dennison Hotel in Indianapolis. The league as proposed would include, Newcastle, Muncie, Richmond, Connersville, Rushville, Cambridge City and an Indianapolis club. The managers of these teams will meet Sunday in Indianapolis and while no organization is expected to be formed, plans and opinions will be offered and the outlook discussed.

FRESH FROM PEOPLE.

Muncie Press: The Lafayette Courier says that the chief charm of the "progressive" party is that it is fresh from the people and free from the leadership of politicians, such as Stilwell, Lee, Landis and Beveridge, who appointed the existing Bull Moose state organization.

TO PLACE WRECK RESPONSIBILITY

record that the report of the dark lamp was sent to Hamilton.

The list of victims of the wreck probably will not exceed sixteen. Hugh Hemp, a passenger, and J. W. Jefferson, colored porter, are still at the Deaconess hospital, but are recovering. Carl Gross, head-end brakeman on the freight train into which the passenger crashed, is also at the hospital. His broken leg is mending.

LOOK PLEASANT.

Connersville News: Twelve Shelbyville men have "signed up" as candidates for the postoffice there, eleven of whom will know they are not going to get it within a few weeks. They are all expected to look pleasant and regard the selection of the "other man" an example of good judgment on Congressman Gray's part.

ELECT R. G. BUDD TO SCHOOL BOARD

ments were adopted. The city treasurers report for the month of November was referred to the finance committee.

The street committee was given power to act in constructing a drain in East Ninth street. The mayor and clerk were instructed to borrow $300 for current expenses. Two hundred dollars was for the general fund and one hundred for the water and light fund. Some street bonds, which are now due were ordered paid on motion of Councilman Kelley. The usual claims were allowed and the council went into session as a committee of the whole. It is understood that an important question regarding finances is pending before the council.

—Mrs. John Demmer arrived home last evening from Kokomo where she has been visiting relatives since before Thanksgiving.
